

Here is a detailed summary of the program outlined by the Party for Work, the Rule of Law, Animal Welfare, Elite Promotion, and Grassroots Democratic Initiative:

Preamble

- The party centers its politics on humanity, advocating for a peaceful and just society based on the values of freedom, equality, and sisterhood.
 - It emphasizes cooperation, striving for a truly humane community where individuals can thrive and contribute responsibly.

Core Values

1. Freedom:

- Defined as the full development of each individual's and the community's potential.
- Freedom comes with responsibility toward others, and its limits are where it infringes on others' freedom.
- Advocates for a society where personal growth aligns with societal responsibility.

2. Equality:

- Goes beyond legal equality, focusing on justice as a measure of equality.
- Opposes background-based discrimination, advocating for equality of opportunity and the elimination of privileges.
- Strives for a society where merit and achievement are recognized and rewarded fairly.

3. Sisterhood:

- Represents solidarity with vulnerable groups: the weak, elderly, sick, young generations, and the environment.
 - Supports social security and protection, ensuring no one is left behind during crises.

Key Policy Areas

1. Combatting Mass Unemployment

- Criticizes measures like flexible labor markets, temporary work, and extended working hours, claiming they increase unemployment and weaken social security.
- Advocates for:
 - A standard 35-hour workweek with full wage compensation.

- A strict limitation on overtime.
 - Converting temporary jobs into permanent positions.
 - A broad campaign for reducing work hours to create more jobs.

2. Economic Fairness

- Aims for a fair distribution of resources and equal opportunities for all.
 - Prioritizes:
 - Actual gender and sexual equality.
 - Affordable and secure healthcare.
 - An open and accessible education system.
 - Redistribution of labor and wealth.
 - Harmonious coexistence between Germans and immigrants.

3. Health System Reform

- Criticizes inefficiencies in the German healthcare system, such as excessive tests, medication use, and non-transparent costs.
 - Calls for:
 - Equal access to necessary medical treatments for all.
 - Payments based on individual financial capacity.
 - Eliminating poverty as a determinant of health.

4. Environmental Protection and Sustainability

- Opposes overexploitation of the planet and prioritizes animal welfare.
 - Emphasizes:
 - Responsible use of natural resources like air, water, and food.
 - A modern environmental protection approach that fosters innovation, job creation, and improved quality of life.
 - Advocates for Germany to lead internationally in environmental policies, including within the EU and global negotiations.

5. Strengthening Democracy

- Seeks to introduce plebiscitary elements (e.g., referendums) at the federal level, aiming to enhance citizen participation.
- Proposes:
 - A three-stage process for public initiatives:
 1. A popular initiative requiring 400,000 signatures to prompt parliamentary discussion.

2. A referendum requiring 5% of eligible voters' support (~3 million citizens).
 3. A final referendum if Parliament rejects the proposal, valid with 20% voter participation (40% for constitutional amendments).
- Amending the Basic Law to allow federal referendums alongside elections.

6. Federal Territory Reorganization

- Proposes reducing Germany's federal states to a maximum of eight.
 - Plans to merge five eastern states (Thuringia, Saxony, Saxony-Anhalt, Brandenburg, and Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania) into one "strong eastern federal state."
 - Envisions a Special Management Zone (SBZ) for this state, featuring:
 - Low tax rates.
 - Flexible labor laws.
 - Simplified, less bureaucratic administration.
 - Economic stimulus and growth.

Conclusion

- The party emphasizes values-driven governance, focusing on equality, solidarity, and responsible freedom.
- Proposes ambitious reforms across labor, health, environment, democracy, and federal structures to ensure justice, sustainability, and effective governance.
