

The document is the party program of DIE LINKE, a German socialist political party, approved in December 2011. It outlines the party's principles, goals, and historical context. Below is a detailed summary:

1. Preamble

- DIE LINKE identifies as a socialist party advocating for a democratic socialist society.
  - Core values include freedom, equality, justice, solidarity, and peace.
  - The party opposes capitalism, imperialism, and exploitation, emphasizing ecological sustainability and social justice.
  - Advocates for dismantling corporate power, improving social security, and empowering workers.

2. Historical Roots

- Builds on socialist, social democratic, and feminist movements, as well as lessons from Germany's history, including the GDR (East Germany) and Federal Republic of Germany.
  - Reflects on the legacy of anti-fascism, the labor movement, and women's movements.

3. Crises of Capitalism

- Critiques capitalism for commodifying life, creating inequality, and prioritizing profit over societal needs.
  - Identifies problems such as mass unemployment, environmental degradation, and growing global inequalities.
  - Asserts that capitalism undermines democracy, erodes social cohesion, and contributes to ecological crises.

4. Democratic Socialism

- Proposes a society based on social, ecological, and economic transformation.
  - Emphasizes public ownership of essential services and industries, democratization of the economy, and sustainability.
  - Advocates for disarmament, peace, and a welfare-oriented European Union.

5. Policy Goals

- Social Equality: Universal social security, fair wages, and reduced working hours.
  - Democracy: Empowering citizens, enforcing workers' rights, and reducing corporate influence on politics.
  - Ecological Sustainability: Transition to renewable energy, sustainable agriculture, and climate action.
  - Global Solidarity: Opposes imperialism and war, supports equitable global development.
  - Gender Equality: Challenges patriarchy, promotes equal pay, and fights discrimination against women and marginalized genders.
